

CORNEAL SCARRING

MEDICAL DISCLOSURE FOR CORNEAL SCARRING

This pet has scarring of the cornea of one or both eyes which shows up as white areas on the surface of the affected eye. This is likely due to trauma or a previous severe eye infection. A corneal stain test has been performed and no ocular ulceration was noted. The eye is comfortable and without discharge at this time, but it is unknown if further treatment may be needed in the future. All follow-up care will need to be done at the owner's veterinarian and at the owner's expense.
