

HEAD TILT

MEDICAL DISCLOSURE FOR HEAD TILT

This pet is noted to have a mild head tilt. It is suspected to be residual from a treated middle/inner ear infection. However, advanced diagnostics with a veterinary neurologist would be required to rule out all of the potential causes. This head tilt may be permanent or may resolve with time. If worsening of the head tilt or other neurologic abnormalities are noted (rapid movement of the eyes, walking off balance, seizures, etc.), an examination with your veterinarian is recommended. All follow-up care will need to be done at the owner's veterinarian and at the owner's expense.
