

SYNECHIA

MEDICAL DISCLOSURE FOR SYNECHIA

This pet has synechia, a condition in which there is fusion of the iris (i.e. colored part of the eye) to the cornea. This is likely due to trauma or a previous severe eye infection. The eye is comfortable and without discharge at this time, but it is unknown if further treatment may be needed in the future. In more severe cases of synechia, the pressures within the eye can become elevated and cause glaucoma. If this occurs, topical medications or even surgical removal of the eye may be recommended. All follow-up care will need to be done at the owner's veterinarian and at the owner's expense.
